

Anglo-Turkish Society / Royal Anthropological Institute lecture, 6 June 2017, 6.00 pm

Speaker: David Barchard

Venue: Royal Anthropological Institute, 50 Fitzroy St, Fitzrovia, London W1T 5BT

Title: The Referendum: a preliminary evaluation

Turkey is entering a new era as it makes a transition from a parliamentary system of government to a presidential one. David Barchard looks at the growth of the idea of a presidential system in Turkey, some of its main features, and the referendum campaign before 16 April and some of the subsequent developments.

Selection of recent articles by David Barchard: <http://www.middleeasteye.net/users/david-barchard>

Booking essential: <https://david-barchard-lecture.eventbrite.co.uk>

Contact: contact@angloturkishsociety.org.uk

MAP OF RESULTS OF 2017 REFERENDUM

A post-referendum protest against the recent referendum results, in the Kadikoy district of Istanbul on April 23, 2017